

Psychology ROADMAP

2021-2022
Year 9, 10 and 11

Research Methods

This topic explores how Psychologists plan, conduct and analyse research

Approaches

This topic explores the main approaches in psychology and how they explain behaviour.

Social Influence

This topic explores conformity and obedience as well as explanation and theories of social influence.

Memory

This topic explores the models and types of memory, explanations for forgetting as well as an insight into eyewitness testimony.

Attachment

This topic explores the concept of attachment, explanations of attachments as well as the impact of attachment on development and future relationships.

Psychopathology

This topic explores the definitions of abnormality, the characteristics of phobias, depression and OCD and the use of approaches to explain and treat phobias, depression and OCD.

Psychology ROADMAP

2021-2022

Year 12 and 13

Issues & Debates

This topic explores gender and culture in Psychology, the main debates including: free will vs determinism, nature vs nurture, holism vs reductionism and idiographic vs nomothetic and ethical implications.

Biopsychology

This topic explores the nervous system, neurons and endocrine system, localisation and lateralisation of the brain, the ways of studying the brain and biological rhythms.

Forensic psychology

This topic explores offender profiling, biological and psychological explanations of offender behaviour and dealing with offending behaviour.

Research Methods

This topic continues from Year 12 as well as features of science, reporting investigations and inferential statistics

Relationships

This topic explores evolutionary explanations, factors affecting attraction, theories of romantic relationships, virtual relationships and parasocial relationships.

Stress

This topic explores the physiology of stress, the role of stress in illness, sources of stress, measuring stress, individual differences in stress and managing and coping with stress

